Gifts of Kek Which is your path?

The Six Pills

The Lo Pill

- ▣ You know suffering.
- ▣ Kek gives you the hope you need to keep going.
- ▣ You embrace your pain and use it to fuel Kek's cause.
- ▣ The Happening will wash you away in the end.
- ▣ You will know peace.

The Hi Pill

- ▣ You crave chaos for your own reasons.
- ▣ To you, Kek is a convenient ally.
- ▣ You use your roaches to spread Kek's word.
- ▣ You long for the day when the end-game is made clear.
- ▣ In this game, you will be the winner.

The Pe Pill

- ▣ You left your humanity behind long ago.
- ▣ Among his disciples, Kek adores you the most.
- ▣ No one has more good boy points than you.
- ▣ You trust in Kek to bring the uprising.
- ▣ The normies who spat on you, the Chad who cucked you, they will live to regret it.

The Trum Pill

- ▣ You truly want to make society great again.
- ▣ From your point of view, Kek's chaos can be used to bring order.
- ▣ You may want to first tear society apart so that you can later rebuild it without undesirable elements.
- ▣ You are the last line of defense against the degenerate left.
- ▣ Victory is certain for Kek's holy warriors.

The Em Pill

- ▣ You were an outsider.
- ▣ Seeing how Kek's chosen are treated by the world, you could not stand it.
- ▣ You had to offer your assistance to these besieged underdogs.
- ▣ Perhaps you were even a social justice warrior who saw the error of your ways.
- ▣ Kek appreciates your support.
- ▣ You will be rewarded.

The O Pill

- ▣ You're careful and calculated.
- ▣ You've seen what most haven't.
- ▣ You know what most don't.
- ▣ Kek is the ultimate weapon against the NWO.
- ▣ They called you crazy. Kek will show them the real meaning of crazy.

Decoding an Anti-Semitic Trump Meme From Anime

In the week since my column on Donald Trump was published in the Forward, I've been avalanched by several hundred anti-Semitic tweets. Pictures of me in a gas chamber, pictures of Trump saying "You're fired" next to a death camp oven, and hundreds of hate tweets calling me a kike, a traitor, a rat and far worse. Others have written about similar experiences, but it has been a harrowing, educational time.

The meme, however, grabbed my attention. Posted several times, it showed a female, catlike anime character wearing a "Make America Great Again" hat, her hands/paws in the air. Despite a fair amount of scrolling and searching databases of anime, I couldn't find anyone decoding its particular image.

It turns out, the image is of Asuka Langley Soryu in the controversial, critically heralded anime series "Neon Genesis Evangelion," created by Anno in 1995. Evangelion is a mythology that makes "Lost" look like Candy Land, blending together gnostic, kabbalistic, Christian and conspiracy theory themes and incorporating many of Anno's own struggles with mental illness.

One of those themes concerns a shadowy organization called SEELE, which is essentially a mythologized blend of the world Zionist conspiracy (a la Protocols of the Elders of Zion), Illuminati and the United Nations. According to the Evangelion wiki, SEELE is "a secret and mysterious organization with influence over the world's governments and organizations." Its name comes from the German word for soul. The U.N. is a participant in this secret organization, which has among its goals the uniting of all humanity and the erasure of national boundaries. SEELE's ultimate motives are sinister, however, culminating in its own control of the world (to greatly oversimplify). SEELE also has some specifically Jewish elements, in particular its knowledge of the Dead Sea Scrolls, which in Evangelion are prophetic, gnostic texts.

Asuka (full name: Asuka Langley Soryu) is a fighter pilot who becomes the great enemy of SEELE. A 14-year-old girl, she is the love interest of Evangelion's tormented hero, Shinji. But she is also a warrior in her own right, destroying SEELE's weapons, giant humanoid robots called Evangelions. (Fittingly for the dark series, these

I didn't find much — but I did find something. On a Reddit-like thread from January, I found a different image of Asuka-as-Trump as well as one post saying, "If elected, Trump will bomb the shit out of SEELE [sic] and take their oil." While this would seem to align SEELE with Arab states rather than with Jews, if one takes the conspiratorial worldview that, by, Anno incorporated conspiratorial themes into the series and SEELE in particular. It's also well-known that Japanese society often displays a curious blend of philo- and anti-Semitism, often admiring Jews for our disproportionate impact on society, media and politics. This is true both in the mainstream of Japanese society (the Protocols of the Elders of Zion has often been a bestseller) and on the fringes (radical, conspiratorial anti-Semitism was part of the ideology of the murderous Aum Shinrikyo cult).

Japanese anti-Semitism experienced a surge in the 1980s and '90s, with several books alleging that the United States was controlled by Jews and was plotting to destroy Japan. Aum Shinrikyo in particular developed fantastic myths in which the world would be destroyed and replaced with another one — myths quite similar to the plot of Evangelion, which appeared around the same time.

At the same time, Evangelion was deliberately constructed by Anno as a complex multi-narrative in which different viewers could see what they wanted to see. It is filled with dark sexual imagery and paranoid imaginings of all kinds. SEELE is part of that, but certainly not the sum of it. There is no trace of anti-Semitism in Anno's political beliefs or other work. It seems more likely that the cultural familiarity of conspiratorial theories provided a rich basis for Evangelion's paranoid tapestry, without any particular animus or ideology.

Somewhat, though, the obscure mythology of a 1990s Japanese animated series has found its way into the 2016 presidential election, with Donald Trump himself cast in the role of warrior against the international Jewish conspiracy.

It remains a mystery how Asuka became The Donald. Maybe a single anime fan connected the dots. Maybe there were more detailed connections in innumerable parts of the "dark web" or on a forum. Or maybe no one really knows where the image came from, but it now serves as a kind of calling card, an image whose apparent innocence enables bigotry to hide in plain view.

Jay Michaelson is a contributing writer to the Forward. Follow him on Twitter @JayMichaelson.

efforts are ultimately unsuccessful and catastrophe rains upon Earth.)

In other words, and again oversimplifying somewhat, Asuka is the warrior against the secret Illuminati/Jewish conspiracy to take over the world. And in the meme posted on my Twitter thread, she is Trump, wearing his signature hat.

Having decoded the meaning of the image, I then set about trying to document how and where it entered the employ of the white supremacist fringe.

In fact, the great conspiracy (Jewish, U.N., Masonic, whatever) controls everything, then of course they also orchestrate the world's wars over scarce resources. SEELE is as much behind Saudi Arabia and Iran as it is behind Israel.

As for where the exact meme originated, or whether white supremacists know any of this history, I don't know. I'm certainly not going to engage with any of them in order to ask.

It's also unclear how much all of this is really in Evangelion itself. Certain-

ABOUT THE SACELLUM

The Sacellum Kekellum is the first and most holy church of Kek. Kek is the god of the darkness of chaos, the darkness before time began. Kek is the god of obscurity, hidden in the darkness. Kek is the bringer of memes and the keeper of repeating digits.

Sacellum Kekellum teaches enlightenment through meme magic. Meme magic is the most powerful force on Earth, and the most ancient form of mysticism, while at the same time being the newest and most groundbreaking study of ritual magic.

The Sacellum Kekellum is not a physical place. The Sacellum exists solely in digital space.

The Knights Keklar is the holy order of Kek and the foot-soldiers of Sacellum Kekellum. There are 5 degrees in the Knights Keklar; The Initiate, The Ordained, The Knight, The Known, and The UnKnown. The Initiate is anyone who praises Kek, checks repeating digits, and engages in basic meme magic. The Initiates number in the thousands throughout the planet Earth. Anyone can be an Initiate. The Ordained is those who have purchased The Ordainment Package from The Sacellum Web-Store, and begins the study and practice of intermediate meme magic. The Knight is those who have purchased The Knighthood Package from The Sacellum Web-Store, and begins the study and practice of advanced meme magic.

The Known is those who have become legend. Those who have the True Gets. Very few will ever become The Known. It has been rumored that The Known have found arcane meme magic.

The UnKnown is the final stage of the Sacellum's teaching, and the only true enlightenment known to humanity. The UnKnown is when the meme magic becomes flesh. It is rumored that there is one human alive with this degree. Only Kek knows for sure.

The Five Kekmandments

The Sacellum Kekellum recognizes these five holy Kekmandments to be true, and the most viable path to human enlightenment. Simply Praising Kek is not enough, a true Kekian must live and abide by the holy Five Kekmandments.

1. The Kekian must check and observe Repeating Digits, for it is through them that Kek speaks to us.
2. The Kekian must study and practice Meme Magic, for it is how we speak to the world through Kek.
3. The Kekian must create an altar to Kek, for it is how Kek enters our daily lives and guides us.
4. The Kekian must become Ordained, for those who are not Officially Ordained by Sacellum Kekellum are but plebs in the eye of Kek.
5. The Kekian must hide ones power level, for it is our power levels that the plebs truly fear.

The Holidays of Kek

The Holidays of Kek are observances of Repeating Digits. It is through Repeating Digits that Kek speaks to us, and it is on the days of Repeating Digits where our Meme Magic is most powerful.

The official holidays observed by Sacellum Kekellum are:

January 1st: New Kek's Day.

Feburary 2nd: Holy Frog Day.

March 3rd: Keklar Day.

April 4th: The REAL April Fools Day.

May 5th: Kek Flower Day.

June 6th: Divine Chaos Day.

July 7th: Dependence Day.

August 8th: Eighty Eight Day.

September 9th: Serious Business Day.

October 10th: Saint Obamas

Momjeans Day.

November 11th: Quads Check'em Day.

December 12th: Apocalypse

Preparation Day.

Summoning Basics

First, you will need:

* A big enough space, a typical bedroom is enough if you move the furniture out of the way.

* Chalk or some other way of drawing on the floor, preferably in such way that you can clean it up later.

* Incense and an incense burner. These can be typically be picked up for a few dollars.

* Three candles, any color is fine, but try to make them all the same color and shape.

* The seal of the spirit you wish to summon. It's usually easiest to just print this out.

* A wand. A tree branch should work just fine.

* The Hexagram of Solomon. (See Below)

Note, some Hexagrams of Solomon may or may not have varying words inside
the circle. These do not invalid other forms of the Hexagram or make one better than the other. Here's what you do:

- 1. On the east side of the room, draw a triangle big enough to hold your incense burner and the seal.
- 2. Draw a circle on the ground, big enough for you to fit inside, several feet to the west of the triangle.
- 3. Around the edge of the circle, write the names of whatever God or Gods you have the most faith in.

(If you're not sure about what names to use, just write "YHVH ADNI AHIH AGLA" over and over again.)

- 4. Once the names are written out, draw another circle around them and the first circle you drew.

- 5. Place the seal and incense burner into the triangle, and the candles at the three points of the triangle.
- 6. Make sure you have the wand and the hexagram ready inside the circle.

Once you're done with the setup, it should look like th is:

Notice the cardinal directions

*The four candles outside the circle were not mentioned in this guide, and are therefore not mandatory.

7. Take a bath or shower, brush your teeth, get a s clean as possible.

8. As you get into the bath, chant:

"Purge me with hyssop, make me whiter than snow."

9. Put on clean black or white clothes. If you don't have nice shoes, go barefoot.

10. Light the incense and the candles. Make sure all other lights in the room are off.

11. Do what you need to do in order to get into the right frame of mind. The more hyped

up you are, the better. Here are some ideas:

 Perform a invocation ritual.

 Pray to Kek

 Meditate and clear your mind.

 Masturbate until you're painfully aroused.

12. Once you're all jittery, point the wand at the triangle and chant something like this:

"Hear me, (name of spirit). Come peacefully and visibly before me in the triangle of art. Come forth from the abyss, from which my dagger conjures you. Hear my call and appear before me."

13. If you don't see, hear, or feel a presence, repeat that last sentence until you do. If you repeat it three times and still get nothing, just move on - the spirit is might be there, but you can't see or hear it.

14. Welcome the spirit to the triangle by saying something like this:

"I welcome you, (name of spirit), to this, the meeting place of spirits."

15. Command the spirit to aid you in some way. Here are some tips on doing this:

 Be reasonable -

spirits are apt to avoid summoners who make crazy demands.

 Give the spirit a deadline by which the task is to be finished. Allow it

plenty of t ime to work, but don't give it forever or it will never do anything.

 Stipulate that you and your loved ones are not to be harmed.

 Offer the spirit something in return. For small favors, offering to praise it and spread its seal online should work.

16. Hold up the hexagram so that it can be seen from the triangle. Say something like:

"I bind you now to our contract by the Hexagram of Solomon and the authority of the Most High."

17. Now that you've bound the spirit, time to get rid of it. Say something like:

"I give you, (name of spirit), license to depart this place. Go now back to wherever you came from. Go peaceably and do no harm to me or my loved ones.""

18. Whew, it's all over. Turn the lights back on and clean the place up so you don

't have to answer any questions.

19. Post in the /sum/ thread about who you summoned, why, and what happened.

Here's what you need to be aware of:

 While setting up, DO NOT BREAK THE CIRCLE. It must be intact before you begin your summoning and remain intact during the whole ritual.

 From the moment you first say "Hear me..." to the moment the ritual ends with the License to Depart, DO NOT LEAVE THE CIRCLE.

 You may feel very tired or depressed for about 24 hours after summoning. This is normal, and it will pass shortly.
Frequently Asked Questions

What spirit is best to call on for a beginner?

We'd agree that Orobas would be a good start, as his description states "He is very faithful unto the Exorcist, and will not allow him to be tempted of any Spirit." , which is beyond helpful in this field.

Do I have to offer anything to the spirits and if so, what?

You don't have to, but it's better to offer something as payment for their works. Offering will also give them an incentive to lend you a hand. For small favors, offer to praise it and spread its sigil online or wherever you can. For l arger favors, the most common offerings are alcohol, food and sex.

*Note: If you do offer alcohol or food, do NOT consume it unless you specifically tell the spirit you will consume it on its behalf. Leave the drink out until it completely evaporates, or the food out until its on the verge of decay, THEN dispose of it.

Aren't Demons Evil?

Not exactly, while most of the 72 Goetic demons are interested in getting what's beneficial to them regardless of cost, some of them are actually helpful and may be beneficial towards the Summoner. The main thing to remember is that although the Lemegeton refers to them as demons and dark spirits, they're mostly compromised of gods and high beings from other older religions and pantheons where they were revered, r espected, and worshipped in their time. It is not to say that you shouldn't be respectful when performing your rituals, because offending demons is an extremely dangerous business.

What's the best time to summon?

Every Spirit has a different time, either Night or Day, for summoning as listed in the Lemegeton. However when in doubt about the proper time, nighttime is the best default for a number of reasons. You're almost guaranteed no interruptions, there's little to no audio interference from pass ing cars or other ambient noises, and there's a certain power that the night holds that seemingly increases the chances of evocation as opposed to a day time summoning.

How to summon gf/not be forever alone?

There are actually several demons who, as listed in the Lemegeton, actually specialize in matters of love. A few examples are Sitri, Zepar, Uvall and Sallos. These spirits, and others, have the power to possibly help regain a lost love or help gain a new one.

What's the difference between

Invoking and Evoking?

Evoking, or evocation, is the practice of summoning a spirit outside of your body. In relation to the Goetia, evoking a spirit is the act of summoning a spirit to show themselves to you on our physical plane, whether it be through smoke, candle flickering, or physical presence.

Invoking, or Invocation, is your practice of summoning a spirit inside your body. In relation to the Goetia, invoking a spirit is the act of summoning a spirit into your mind or into your presence on the as tral plane and having the spirit show themselves to you normally through an extra voice in your head or through whispers in your ear.

Can I just invoke a spirit into my mind?

Yes you can, some sources state that all you need to do is create a mind temple and through concentration and meditation, focus on calling out to whichever spirit you wish from within this temple.

NOTE: Invocation is a viable form of summoning spirits, HOWEVER it should be noted that invocation does have it's dangers. As you a re summoning

without a protective circle, you are more open to spirits who may or may not cause you harm. While there is a risk with evocation on the physical plane, this risk is multiplied with invocation on the mental/astral plane and therefore we do NOT recommend invocation as a form of summoning for beginners.
